San Francisco Designers Vernon Applegate And Goi Tran Make A Pacific Heights Condo Feel Like Home

TEXT BY KATHRYN LOOSLI PRITCHETT
PHOTOGRAPHY BY CHRISTOPHER STARK

LEFT Gold Venetian plaster covers the niches that house the owner's art glass collection in this Pacific Heights condo. To create more seating, the designers extended the fireplace hearth and added a window seat in the nearby alcove. The modern sofa by Philippe Hurel and side chair by Marbello Design compliment the fusion of Pan Asian and French design details. ABOVE Designer Vernon Applegate designed the large mirror that hangs over the Newell Design "Metropolis" cabinet near the stairway leading to the master bedroom suite.

LEFT A wall of painted cabinets provides storage for clothing as well as media equipment. The strong geometric grid pattern of the cabinet panels and hardware is offset by the soft curves of the bedroom wall. OPPOSITE French pleated fabric hangs behind the white leather bed by Holly Hunt. A lighted soffit swells over the bed. Flush shag carpeting and luxurious mohair upholstery add to the cocoon-like quality of the room.
